DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

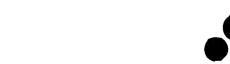

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claims 32-56 and 58-91 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Jovicic et al. (US 5,855,007). Jovicic is considered to disclose a system or method comprising:

a web site for providing purchasing incentives from multiple sources (column 6 lines 4-48 wherein the disclosed internet coupon notification center is considered to be patentably equivalent to the claimed multiple source web site purchase incentive);

a consumer purchase history database based on consumer online shopping activity (column 6 line 61 through column 7 line 61 wherein the disclosed electronic coupon redemption center accounting purpose is considered to implicitly anticipate the claimed online purchase history database because redemption implies purchase history and accounting implies database shopping activity, column 7 line 66-67 expressly teaches the claimed online shopping purchase history because the disclosed shopping patterns of a particular user is considered to be based on shopping purchase history, and column 9 lines 19-28 wherein the disclosed past transaction recordation of coupon server database access implies an online consumer purchase history database because coupons associated with online shopping indicate history as claimed);

a consumer database which can identify consumers by their e-mail address, wherein said consumer database is connected to said web site so as to receive consumer data from said web site (column 6 line 58 wherein the disclosed customer internet address is considered to anticipate the claimed consumer e-mail address because based on applicants' specification, it would be reasonable to broadly construe the terms as patentably synonymous and column 7 line 36 wherein the disclosed customer internet address or claimed consumer e-mail address is considered to be stored in a database); receiving a consumer's e-mail address from a consumer's computer (column 8 lines 18-22 wherein the disclosed user self e-mailing is considered to expressly teach to consumer e-mail receipt); maintaining a consumer email database which can identify consumers by their email address (column 6 line 58 wherein the disclosed customer internet address is considered to anticipate the claimed consumer e-mail address because based on applicants' specification, it would be reasonable to broadly construe the terms as patentably synonymous);

formatting an e-mail message to a consumer by electronic mail for subsequent printing of a coupon (column 7 lines 45-55 wherein the disclosed internet coupon server electronic mail print out is considered to expressly anticipate the claimed e-mail formatting for coupon printing); and/or means for delivering purchasing incentives or notices to purchase a specific manufacturer product to consumers by e-mail or means for delivering e-mail notices which remind consumers to visit the web site or transmitting purchase incentives via an e-mail post office or transmitting to consumers a notice to visit the web site via the consumer email address or generating targeted purchase incentives from a consumer purchase history database (column 7 lines 40-45 wherein the disclosed electronic mail message communication is considered to expressly disclose the claimed delivery means, reminder means, transmitting method, or generating method). Jovicic is also considered to disclose the claimed consumer profile (column 6 line 59), purchase history and consumer database integration (column 8 line 7), independently administered web site (column 10 line 34), cooperative site (column 10 line 36), past purchasing activity (column 7 line 66), shopping list selection data (column 8 line 50), rebate offer data (column 2 line 37), manufacturer or retailer web site links (column 7 line 58), product or sample information request (column 7 line 65), consumer favorite brands (column 6 line 59), customer identification number or name storage (column 7 line 27), demographic information (column 1 line 63), targeted time phased incentives based on consumer actual buying patterns and preferences (column 8 line 19), generating untargeted incentives (column 1 line 61), printed data enabling coupons (column 7 line 47), point of sale printing (column 2 line 64), token encoding identification card (column 7 line 27), shopping list selections (column 6 line 50), and particular consumer specific offers (column 6 line 60).

Claim 57 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Golden et al. (US 5,761,648). Golden is considered to disclose a system or method comprising:

a personal database 2;

a purchase history database wherein the data on consumer purchases are based on consumer online shopping activity (column 4 lines 27-39 wherein the disclosed issuer coupon file data base with card check-out activation online is considered to expressly teach the claimed online consumer shopping activity history database);

means for generating a web page with a consumer-specific display (column 4 line 60 wherein the disclosed downloaded display by login password entry is considered to imply the claimed consumer specific web page display because a downloaded login would generate a specific consumer display);

means for updating said web page (column 5 line 7 wherein the disclosed coupon update instructions is considered to expressly teach the claimed web page update means); and means for informing the consumer by e-mail of new incentives (column 1 line 30-40 wherein the disclosed mail packs or mail lists when read in conjunction with the disclosed online electronic certificate is considered to imply the claimed informing means because new incentives to consumers inform via electronic means and mail means).

Response to Amendments & Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed March 15, 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 32-91 have been considered but are most in view of the new ground of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new grounds of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP ' 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of
